

Risa Simon's Introduction Sheet

Our speaker today is a certified management consultant, published author and professional speaker holding memberships with the National Speakers Association, the Institute of Management Consultants, the Academy of Dental Management Consultants and OSAP; while serving as a consultant to the ADA's Council on Dental Practice, and the Arizona School of Dentistry and Oral Health.

Over the past two decades, our speaker has presented seminars to some of the most prestigious dental organizations, including the American Dental Association, 'The Hinman' and the Academy of Dental Practice Administration, - while continuing to publish and produce books and articles, and a number of training videos and DVD's, utilized exclusively by dental offices and teaching institutions nationwide.

You may remember our speaker from her editorial column, in the ADA's magazine "Dental Teamwork", or from her involvement teaching at the Pacific University, or as the very first nationally recognized clinical consultant, for the Pride Institute of Management, back in the 80's.

Perhaps you recall her name on the CDA program, year after year [for the past 10 plus years] - or her association with 'Teamwork Concepts', a management consulting company she founded over 17 years ago; [now known as] Simon Says Solutions, (the management consulting division, of her parent company, Simon Says Seminars, incorporated.

Ok, enough of all this - the suspense is killing me! . . . So, please, as her name implies, "Simon Says", put your hands together, and help me welcome - certified management consultant, published author, and professional speaker:

Risa Simon!
